

Review: Dr. Stanley Monteith, Brotherhood of Darkness, www.AnomalosPublishing.com, Highway, 2000

Pages: 153

Overview of a Difficult and Slippery Topic

Dr. Stanley communicates his extensive research on occult societies in an intriguing way by analogy of Agatha Christie's iconic Murder on the Orient Express. Coming to a positive identification of 'the' particular group behind all the world's evil is implied impossible-the time period, number of groups and powers of influence are simply too diverse.

Notwithstanding seventeen organisations are surveyed and incriminating evidence raised. One group, the Cecil Rhodes Society (1891) is singled out as having more influence than most. Its charter to dominate the world via an Anglo-American Establishment birthed powerful groups like the CFR and Chatham House.

The Masons and the arcanum arcanorum (mystery of the mystery religions) is also revealed – that all adherents are worshipping and receiving light from Lucifer, the Light-Bearer. He is really the liberator of mankind, from Jehovah who cruelly created man an automaton depriving him of wisdom.

Despite a Christian world view lack of Biblical prophecy is evident. Revelation 17 says the driver of the world beast system is a woman, who is that great city on seven hills. Accounting for history the only candidate is Rome.

This blind spot is shown up with one group, the Society of Jesus. It is allocated a mere ½ page, which incredibly states after its inception [1540AD] dark spiritual forces 'diverted it from its original calling'. In reality this 'original calling' was to redouble the Holy Office of the Inquisition's effort to crush the Reformation.

Similarly, the Masons are portrayed as an anti-Catholic 'Protestant' group yet contrary evidence exists, e.g. masonic-Catholic leadership (Angelo Roncali/Pope John XXIII) and Masonic buildings like the 1949-1950 remodelled U.S. House Chamber. Mason Thomas Walter's design included 'great' lawgivers such as bloodthirsty Popes Gregory IX and Innocent III, and Simon de Montfort, butcher of the Albigensian Christians. A main historical source, History Professor Carroll Quigley (1910-1977) taught at the Jesuit-controlled Georgetown University.

For those with a Government school education a complex book due to interwoven relations across history the and history requiring research at each step. The breadth and newness of material for many will require much thought and critical analysis. There is an extensive index for such a short book.

Both introduction and conclusion are compelling-the informed reader will be obliged to take some form of action knowing he is ultimately in a spiritual battle against the greatest enemy of mankind, Lucifer.

I) The Dark Forces (pp. 8-25)

The crucial nature of reading history from a conspiratorial perspective is made clear – secret or esoteric societies are an established fact and have been for a long time.

Great wisdom is given in a few quotes: By a hideous type of osmosis the apathetic in society become accomplices to evils they fail to resist, and the price good men pay for disinterest in public affairs is being ruled by evil men.

Lord Tennyson's visionary poem Locksley Hall was a catalyst for the world government movement, capturing people such as Oxford Professor John Ruskin, socialist Edward Bellamy, Andrew Carnegie, and former U.S. President Harry Truman (who carried Tennyson's poem with him his whole life). The evidence of Truman's conspiratorial behaviour is compelling – he signed the U.N. Charter, gave Eastern Europe to the Soviets, China to Mao (by cutting off arms supplies), and hamstrung General MacArthur in the Korean War.

Cecil Rhodes was a student of John Ruskin and also carried about his poetry. In his 1877 Confession of Faith plans for Anglo-Saxon world domination are laid out. In February 1891 he created a secret society called the Round Table, the alleged central group behind Chatham House, the CFR, Bilderbergers and Club of Rome. Interestingly, it was to be modeled on the Society of Jesus.

Upon his death, his vast fortune was left to Lord Rothschild and to establish the Rhodes Trust, from which thousands of globalist Rhodes Scholars have since been churned out to further world government.

II) Too Many Clues (pp. 26-89)

This contains detail of major groups suspected with causing the world's ills. Pavlov's psychological experimentation with dogs to demonstrate cognitive dissonance is striking. People today have been conditioned and stimulated to the extent they seem incapable of synthesizing information required to understand world events using critical thinking skills, and so simply regress into their own private reality.

(i) The bankers

From the early 20th century central bankers themselves have disclosed the shocking truth banks can and do create money out of nothing, and by this means control Government and the people. Bank owners like J. P. Morgan used this power to buy up newspaper and thereby influence public opinion. This was the method used to get the U.S. into WWI (using German atrocity stories).

According to Prof. Carrol Quigley, the end game is a global central bank heading up the cartel of member banks in each country, a modern-day feudal system.

The Jewish banking conspiracy is labeled a smokescreen as upon closer inspection many of the large bank's Directors were not Jewish, and large banks not Jewish owned (e.g. Bank of Japan and Bank of America).

(ii) The CFR

This group exists to dissolve national sovereignties to achieve world peace, and nearly all influential U.S. politicians have been CFR members. Effects of this are the controlled two-party system and independent march to world government while all goes unreported by the controlled media.

(ii) The Bilderbergers

Formerly figure-headed by Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, with its European pool this group is more international than the CFR.

Bilderbergers are described as the 'kingmakers', and evidence of their power is the almost total media blackout surrounding them since their inception in 1954.

(iii) The Trilateral Commission

This group seeks commercial and banking domination of the world and operates in three main international zones: Europe, Japan/Asia, and America. Key to achieving their goals is political control over the U.S.

(iv) The Club of Rome

Power of this group is said to come from its European royal affiliates (in Spain and the Netherlands). Their goal is to create a system of global governance. One influential member is Maurice Strong who the author documents as a spiritualist-his 200,000 acre Colorado Ranch called "the Baca" is home to retreats.

Mikhail Gorbachev is also associated with the Club. Somehow capitalists and communists both find agreement in the Club which only makes sense if they share the same goals.

(v) Communism

A lengthy section, it opens with a damning quote from David Rockefeller in 1973, that Mao's China [which killed 40M] was a successful social experiment!

This ideology is in agreement with much of the above mentioned groups, and an explosive revelation comes from former Communist and 'useful idiot' Bella Dodd, who found out her Soviet superiors were actually working with Capitalist financiers. David Rockefeller supposedly sent Soviet dictator Nikita Khrushchev to Siberia on his 1964 Kremlin visit

(v) Socialism

A bridge between Capitalism and Communism, this movement in Britain was the British Fabian society, organised 1884 by George Bernard Shaw and friends. Shaw's ideas were people would be forcibly taken care of, although those not worthy of life would be humanely killed off.

U.S. Socialist Norman Thomas prophesied Liberalism would be the vehicle of introducing Socialism, and it has worked.

The Socialist International organisation also works with the above groups, competing for power.

(vi) Secular Humanism

The destructive religion of Communists, it advocates sodomy, drugs, infanticide, prisoner rights, world government and atheism.

Its official documents are the Human Manifesto I and II [now also III]. Tenets are directly antagonistic to Judeo-Christian beliefs: evolutionism (i.e. no creator exists) and separation or exclusion of religion from State.

(vii) Tax-Exempt Foundations

Without funding, secular humanism would never progress and this is where private foundations work. Examples include the Carnegie Foundation and WWI pro-war propaganda, Rockefeller's funding of Dr. Alfred Kinsey's sexually perverted studies, and both combined with the Ford foundation in taking over and removing God from higher educational institutions.

The U.S. state itself brought communism to power in China. The Reece Committee was established to investigate why the U.S. placed an arms embargo on Chiang Kai Shek's Nationalist forces but it was stymied. It was found foundations with links to the Rhodes Trust were helping Rhodes Scholars into strategic Government positions.

(viii) The Hierarchy

Also called Ascended Masters, Masters of Wisdom and The Elder Brothers. Lucis Trust is a nefarious organisation partnered with the UN. Originally established as Lucifer Publishing Company in 1923 by Alice Bailey for publishing her books. They were channeled by her spirit guide Djwhal Khul. These along with Blavatsky's works form the bedrock of New Age doctrine.

(viii) The Illuminati

Founded May 1, 1776 by Adam Weishaupt (no mention is made of him being an ex-Jesuit). Officially lasting only nine years and having a maximum membership across this period of 2,000, it submerged into Freemasonry and drove the French Revolution, ultimately culminating in the Bolshevik Revolution. It is no coincidence the Soviets set May 1 as their day of celebration.

(ix) The Jews

Convincing arguments of a Jewish conspiracy are advanced:

*Nearly all Lenin's polit bureau were Jewish. Leon Trotsky, a Jew, however was later murdered (in Mexico) Founded May 1, 1776 by Adam Weishaupt (no mention is made of him being an ex-Jesuit).

*Winston Churchill blamed Zionism for Bolshevism and the media uncharacteristically let him get away with it.

*Jacob Schiff, a Jew Banker purportedly gave USD20M to the Bolshevik's for their cause. An interesting fact is there were two revolutions, the first in March 1917 to depose the Czar, the second in October 1917 which brought the Bolsheviks to power.

U.S. State department intelligence files confirm Schiff did oppose the Czar, also that he congratulated usurper Alexander Kerensky. However they also state Schiff was against the Bolsheviks. Finance for both revolutions is said to have come via the Germans, who cut it off once it was clear Lenin would continue the war. They were replaced by Britain and America.

The Protocols is raised as misinformation. Said to originate in Paris, it was found 1905 in Russia and translated, then to Great Britain where Victor Marsden translated them into English. The author says he found a slightly different version amongst Colonel Edward Mandell House's papers, suggesting there were at least two versions. House was a powerful unelected figure who is said to have controlled Woodrow Wilson, also President Roosevelt. In this capacity he supposedly rebuffed the American Ambassador to Germany who had said in February 1915 they wanted to stop the war.

As to their nefarious nature, Henry Ford circulated The Protocols, was awarded Germany's highest medal by Hitler for helping build his war machine, had factories in Russia to help the Communists, then in Communist China.

Lord Milner, a 33rd degree Mason and member of the Round Table group, visited Russia February 1917 shortly before the Czar's deposition which he financed. After the Bolshevik, their organ carried an article praising WWI as a War of Liberation. Milner and his Rhodes Trust members were in control of the British Government during this period. Milner also sent his personal envoy, Raymond Robbins, to Bolshevik Russia where he was influential enough to exile one Saalkind, then Assistant Commissar for Foreign Affairs. Lenin nationalised every bank except the Rockefeller-controlled National City Bank.

After Herbert Hoover headed the American Relief Mission and found 750k tons of supplies, and USD56M was given to Bolshevik areas, with hardly anything given to anti-communists (e.g. General Wrangel's White Russian army in the South, and Admiral Kolchak's in the East). Like Chiang Kai Shek, the anti-communists were starved of resources.

In summary, major funding from non-Jewish sources is provable, while Jacob Schiff's 20M to the Bolsheviks is not.

(x) The Jesuits

Basic information and using ex-Jesuit Malachi Martin as an authority. They are portrayed as a victim of other dark forces.

(xi) The Masons

The main object of the craft is supposedly the destruction of Catholicism. Masons designed Washington D.C., controlled the Supreme Court from 1941-1971 (whose rulings secularised the society), ~50% of U.S. Presidents have been Masons.

(xii) The New Age

Previously a title of a Masonic magazine (now the Scottish Rite Journal), this movement is also known as the Aquarian Conspiracy, made famous by Marilyn Ferguson's book of that title. It is a doctrineless conspiracy with many adherents, promoting environmentalism, sexuality and Gaia worship.

(xiii) The Order of the Quest

Mentioned by Manly P. Hall, this group was responsible for the Great Seal, placing it on the back of a 1782 design of the Great Seal. Members of this order are said to have come to America 150 years prior to the Revolutionary War with a goal to create a new Atlantis, the mythical city mentioned in Plato's The Republic. a Masonic magazine (now the Scottish Rite Journal), this movement is also knight and mystic Christian Rosenkreutz. Dying in 1484, he committed his esoteric knowledge to eight followers.

Rosicrucians, as with Gnostics and Kabbalists believe secrets of the Bible can only be unlocked by the mystery religions.

(xv) Skull and Bones

Organised 1832 as 'branch 322' of a German Secret Society. Anecdotally associated with the Illuminati after its suppression, it is also known as The Order, Brotherhood of Darkness and The American Establishment.

Alumni are called 'Bonesmen', and become powerful leaders in society through their relationships. One famous example is the Bush family, with three generations becoming President.

The Yale press were controlled by them for forty years (1833-1873)

Matthew 23.27 rings true.

(xvi) Theosophical Society

The infamous creator of this group in 1875 was Madame Blavatsky. Her two foundational texts, Isis Unveiled, and The Secret Doctrine, were channeled by her Indian spirit master 'Koot Hoomi'. Theosophist and sympathetics included Thomas Edison, Arthur Conan Doyle, Margaret Sanger and Hitler (he read The Secret Doctrine nightly).

Henry Wallace, a theosophist influenced Roosevelt to place the Great Seal on the reverse of the U.S. one dollar bill.

(xvii) UFO Believers

Not really qualifying as a coherent group, the sheer size and influence of this phenomenon seems to warrant its inclusion as a candidate for world domination. No spiritual or Biblical commentary is given on these experiences being of demonic origin and not real UFOs/aliens.

III) The Murder on the Orient Express (pp. 90-104)

The author gives his testimony as to how he began to suspect the history he had been taught was intentionally deceptive – that the U.S. left thousands of its WWII POWs in Siberia to die, brought Castro to power in Cuba, and also brought Chairman Mao to power.

The nucleus of this deceptive force are the Round Table Groups-the source being Carroll Quigley's 1960 Tragedy and Hope. This in turn was birthed from the Rhodes Secret society established February, 1891 by Cecil Rhodes. The group's first ill-founded venture was fomenting the Boer War, to unit South Africa. The Boers lost 7,000 men, Britain 100,000 and the land was in ruins.

Lord Milner succeeded after Rhodes' death in 1902 and set up Round Tables in seven countries. One member in Britain, Arthur Balfour became Prime minister in the same year. Tellingly, the society was to be for Britain as the Jesuits were for Rome.

It supposedly gained control of Britain and started WWI, then tried to unit the world in the League of Nations by shifting power to the U.S. (England was bankrupt). The Royal Institute of Affairs and the Council on Foreign Relations were created as outer groups of the Round Table to help achieve this.

Also explained is the insidious political system which was to be setup to deceive the masses into believing they had some semblance of control over their destiny. The ideal was a two party system where both sides had the same underlying policy settings, and over time technocrats would gradually replace elected officials. The end was a controlled existence from cradle to grave.

Bankers provided necessary financial support, and it is provable J.P. Morgan financed both Republicans and Democrats, and Communists and Anti-Communist groups. Similarly, U.S. industrialists financed Hitler so he could start WWII. One Ambassador [to Germany] William E. Dodd asked Colonel House why this would be so given profits could not be repatriated to the U.S. due to Nazi exchange controls? The Bolsheviks and Soviets [USD40B, during the Vietnam War] were also financed.

IV) The Final Secret (pp. 105-144)

After reading Quigley, the author took an extreme step of faith, closing his Orthopedic surgery practice he went to Georgetown University¹ where his papers were kept. This was because no one had bothered to verify any of Quigley's (unfootnoted) tome from his death in 1976. Quigley accessed the secret society via Sir Alfred Zimmern in England, a historian. Zimmern was a member but left in 1922 after finding out they were supporting Hitler before WWII. After ten years Quigley learnt enough about the society to write The Anglo-American Establishment.

Seven sources of evidence are given to prove the existence of the Rhodes Society:

i) William T. Stead's biography, which reveals the Jesuitical philosophy behind the group (Rhodes would be the 'General'), as well as one of the members, future British Prime Minister Alfred Balfour.

ii) Rhodes Confession of Faith, which was attached to five of seven copies of his wills.

iii & iv) Quigley's examination of the society's documents used to write The Anglo-American Establishment.

v) H.G. Well's fictional The New Machiavelli alludes to the society, coined 'The Confederates', led by 'Crupp' a pseudonym for Milner who was German.

In an earlier work Experiment in Autobiography, Well's said he belonged to a dinner club called the 'Coefficients', which had members from two groups: the Fabian Socialists and Rhodes' society. Its alias was the Pentagonam Circle².

One member of the Rhodes' society, British MP Leo Amery, in 1940, tongue-lashed Neville Chamberlain who resigned a few days later to be replaced with Churchill, who the author also suspects of being a member.

vi) One Frederic Howe was told by Milner's men of the group. Howe believed in the sanctity of treaties, which in WWII included the King of Hedjas, England and France to drive the Turks from Arabia. The Arabs were betrayed by the Sykes-Picot Treaty where France got Syria and England Mesopotamia. The Jews asked Prime Minister Balfour for Palestine and received it.

Howe found out the reason for WWII was the 'white man's burden' – Anglo-saxon rule over inferior peoples, i.e. , those unfit for self-government. With England drained, this burden was necessarily transferred to the U.S. and as a result Chatham House and the CFR were established.

vii) CFR member Admiral Chester Ward's book Kissinger on the Couch warned of a small group behind the CFR.

Rhodes joined the Masons and all the group's members were occultists (e.g., Society for Psychical Research, Theosophical Society, Spiritualists).

Introductory degrees of Masonry are outlined-their oaths, request for more 'Light', and increasingly sever oaths.

Albert Pike openly admits low-level members are deceived, and that Masonry is a worship. Manly P. Hall reveals two groups exist in Masonry and that only those in the inner invisible group know the arcantum arcanorum (mystery of the mystery religions)-its possessor has the 'seething energies of Lucifer in his hands.' Pike directly states Lucifer is the light-bearer³.

All secret societies have Lucifer as their god.

Masonry is thought to go back to the Templars in 1118 AD who learned the lost 'Word' while in the Middle East and brought it back to Europe. This esoteric knowledge enabled them to gain great wealth and they became a threat to the Catholic Church which had their leader De Molay burned in the Holy Inquisition.

The masonic dollar bill is discussed: the number 13 (Knight's Templar Jacques De Molay's arrest date was Friday, October 13 in 1307), unfinished pyramid (sign of initiation and material power), Eye of God (spiritual vision used by many secret societies). The seal was created 1789 and it is said America was settled by members of the Brotherhood from 150 years before the Revolutionary War with the goal of making the country into an enlightened democracy to lead the world (!).

Via Pike comes another revelation - in the Garden of Eden God was the Prince of Darkness who created Adam, and the Demons forbade him to eat the tree's fruit. It was an Angel of Light that induced Adam to transgress. Pike simply reverses the role of God and Satan in the Biblical account.

H. P. Blavatsky sees Lucifer as man's liberator from Jehovah who had made him an automaton.

The author lays out the secret, that all the secret societies worship Lucifer in return for wealth and power. Masonic control is evidenced from the period 1941-1971 when the Mason-controlled Supreme Court during which God, prayer and the Bible were removed from schools. The ACLU and ADL organisations also have Masonic ties, which is why they focus on Christianity. In their magazine, The New Age, 1950 the new world order plan was laid out, including a planned universal religion called 'The Great Light'.

Main actors are then brought together in conclusion: J. P. Morgan and Bolshevik financing; Henry Ford (33rd degree Freemason) and Bolshevik and his Chinese Communist financing; Andrew Carnegie and his Endowment for International Peace which lobbied for war; Cecil Rhodes; 'Colonel' Edward Mandell House (New Age occultist) and his involvement with The Protocols; President Harry Truman (33rd degree Freemason) the Tennyson card-carrier and saboteur-in-chief re: China, Eastern Europe and Korea; Churchill (Mason, Druid and Tennysonite) the architect of Gallipoli and who brought Jesuit Tito to power in Slovakia; Mikhael Gorbachev (former USSR dictator and KGB director) who came to the U.S. and us working for world government.

Another person is mentioned, Barbara Marx Hubbard. In The Book of Co-Creation she gives an interpretation of Revelation 6.8 – death is the 'Christ Light' sent to purge mankind if ¼ of the population as 'defective seeds' (i.e. those opposed to the New World Order).

To end the spiritual nature of the struggle is emphasised – God Vs Satan with mankind in the middle given free-will to choose which side to follow.

The wise saying for Christians is given: “pray as if everything is up to God and work as if everything depends upon you.”

¹Georgetown university is the political epicentre of Catholicism in the U.S..

²This was the emblem of the failed League of Nations.

³*Morals and Dogma*, p. 321.