

Review: Geoff McDonald, Red Over Black: Behind the Aboriginal Land Rights, Veritas Publishing Company, Cranebrook, WA, May 1982 (August 1998 edn.)

Pages: 143

Startling Secular Prophecies Coming to Pass

An old S.O.S for Australia which is now rapidly approaching full Balkanisation.

The ex-Communist author elucidates what is now obvious, that Australia has been destroyed by using Aborigines as a permanent, small wedge, combined with a larger 'multicultural' wedge; mass Chinese and Indian migration.

International groups like the United Nations and World Council of Churches are exposed as Communist fronts and paymasters of Australian political useful idiots.

Sadly, the current situation is likely beyond repair without Civil War.

Preface (pp. v-vii)

Communist domination works by deliberate fostering of multiculturalism which can only end with the Balkanisation of Australia.

The World Council of Churches is a front for Comintern.

It is superficial to claim Australia is an Asian country.

“A nation which ignores its history has no future.”

Convicts and their guards were English, Irish, Scottish, and Welsh.

Introduction (pp. xi-xvi)

Other countries are far more 'race' conscious than Australia.

The policy which at any given time suits the Communist Party is the best policy.

Communists argue benefits of race mixing between Chinese and Australians, but forget that this is abhorrent for Chinese and Japanese.

Turning Australia into a racial melting point will remove it from the orbit of a shrinking Western Civilisation.

I) Distortion About What the White Australia Policy Really Meant (pp. 1-5)

There is complete unity amongst all Communists on the Aboriginal land issue.

Communists describe Aborigines as victims of 'colonial imperialism' and claim they must be 'liberated'.

"I learnt as a Communist, Communist dialectic permits Communists to promote separate Negro States in Southern U.S.A., a similar policy for Australian Aborigines, which at the same time opposing it in South Africa." [p5].

II) Fake Aboriginal Organisations (pp. 6-12)

"This century (20th) has demonstrated time and again how Communists have been successful in adopting Lenin's famous teaching of exploiting those whom he described as 'useful idiots'." [p7]

"Like all Communists, I was taught in the early days of the United Nations how the international organisation would be used to advance International Socialism. Stalin let it be known that he warmly welcomed the establishment of the U.N. and affiliated international organisations like the United Nations Educational and Cultural Organisation ... The U.N. today must be regarded as the most successful international Communist 'front' organisation ever established." [p8]

III) Radicals Admit They Want an Independent Black Nation – Australia Does Not Belong to the Whites (pp. 13-17)

‘Father’ Pat Dodson: “This nation belongs to the Aboriginal people, and it has never been handed over or ceded.” [p15]

IV) Selling Out the Anglo-Saxons for Attack (pp. 18-24)

V) Exploitation of Aborigines to Hold Back Industrial Development? (pp. 25-30)

There is a gradual shift in the balance of power: the U.S. defeat in Vietnam; changed relations between oil producers and consumers; and Africa independence from colonial rule.

VI) The Federal Government Versus Queensland (pp. 31-37)

VII) Learning First Hand by Visiting Aboriginal Areas (pp. 38-47)

The Communist Party split in 1956 over Kruschchev’s anti-Stalin speech.

Aborigines do not take readily to living in houses or even tents.; they can't stay in a place someone has died due to spirits of the dead and so are constantly on the move.

“Before European influence reached them, they wore no clothes, built no permanent dwellings, cultivated no crops and lived as nomadic hunters.” [p44]

VIII) The Failure of Our Intelligence Organisations (pp. 48-54)

IX) What Has Been Happening on Aboriginal Land Areas (pp. 55-69)

At Yuendumu, 120mi from Alice Springs, nurses tend to wounds from boomerangs and spears from drunken Aborigines.

Aboriginal gunyahs are made of scrub, spinifex, and canvas.

“The trouble is liquor. Everyone at the settlement agrees on this point ... trouble usually starts on alternate Fridays ... pay days.” [p59]

Nunkri is the name given to the Aboriginal medicine man.

Aboriginals never knew how to boil water since they had no utensils.

X) Listen to the Experts (pp. 70-78)

White settlement benefits:

1. White food replaced indigenous.
2. There was no more starvation during droughts.
3. Whites broke down geographic land barriers between tribal groups.

Prof. Geoffrey Blainey: “the conclusion seems inescapable ... Infanticide was almost certainly the strongest check on the increase of the population of Aborigines.”

XI) The Preparations for Violence (pp. 79-86)

The Japanese called Australians ‘racist’ as psychological warfare prior to invasion.

XII) An End to Appeasement Policies Is Essential (pp. 87-91)

The Communist strategy towards a treaty is put it up first as a white man’s proposal, without any details, then once the Federal Government accepts it, submit it for consideration to the Aborigines.

XIII) The U.N . as an Instrument Against Australia (pp. 92-98)

XIV) Communists Are the People Who Stirred Opposition to Migrants (pp. 99-105)

XV) Australia Does Not Have to Imitate the Mistakes of Others (pp. 106-113)

The most immediate strategy is to split the Anglo-Saxons and Celts, and Protestants and Catholics.

“What we are witnessing in Australia is a classical case of psychological war being waged against the nation. ... Multiculturalism to the left is the smokescreen for destruction. Politicians who use the term demonstrate, at best, their foolishness. That in itself makes a complete mockery of the whole concept of multi-culturalism.” [pp107-8]

XVI) The Australian Tradition (pp. 114-124)

Aristotle’s ideal community lives in harmony, and when enlisted in the army will fight in unison.

Trade unions are banned in Communist countries.

XVII) Maintaining a Homogenous Australia (pp. 125-130)

XVIII) Defend Australia by Voice and Pen (pp. 131-133)

XIX) The Government Should End Its Support for the Grassby’s in Australia (pp. 134-138)

XX) Australia Does Its Best for the Aborigines (pp. 139-142)